DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 22 and 24 – 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Herrmann et al.

Regarding claim 22, Herrmann et al disclose a control circuit for controlling the driving stability of a vehicle comprising a control circuit (See Col. 6, line 44) is provided for the wheel brake pressures, the circuit determines the nominal wheel pressures for an optimum driving stability (See Col. 6, lines 45 – 49).

Regarding claim 24, various vehicle models are used in the control circuit, which simulates the driving behavior of the vehicle via calculation (See Col. 3, lines 8 – 14).

Regarding claim 25, means are provided, attributing a value to the nominal value of which represents the zero point of the transverse force (See Col. 8, lines 31 – 60).

Regarding claim 26, the control circuit attributes the amplitude variations by means of an inverse function to changes in distance according to a specific relation (See Col. 8, lines 31 – 60).
